BY REV. HENRY WARD BEECHER. Fire Escape.—Mr. WM. BARTLETT has invented a Fire Escape and applied for a patent, which is a decided improvement over those used in London. It is a 'lube made of canvas, with an iron frame to attach to the inside of a window or shimey by the use of ropes, so that a dozen persons at a time can pass down inside of said tube, and by the use of an endless rope running through five any include at either end, can lot themselves down as allow or fast as they please; in like manner assistance can be sent up through it.
